YOUR HOME MAY BE REPOSSESSED IF YOU DO NOT KEEP UP REPAYMENTS ON A MORTGAGE OR ANY OTHER DEBT SECURED ON IT.

Introduction

Whether you are a first time buyer, or someone who has moved home many times, we trust you will find this guide valuable. Moving to a new home is something most of us only do a few times in our life, so it is important to ensure we have a clear understanding of the process and our knowledge is up-to-date.

This guide will help to clarify the terminology, benefits, risks and associated costs of borrowing to buy your new home.

Here to help you

Buying your first or next home can be stressful. There are many questions you will need to ask yourself regarding your choice of property.

Then come the mortgage related ones such as:

- How much will it cost?
- Can I afford it?
- How much deposit will I need?
- What type of mortgage do I want?
- Will I get a mortgage?

The home loan market is complex. There are so many different mortgages to choose from.

So it's good to know that, as your adviser, we are on hand to answer your questions. We will help you with the tricky process of not only getting a mortgage, but getting the right mortgage.

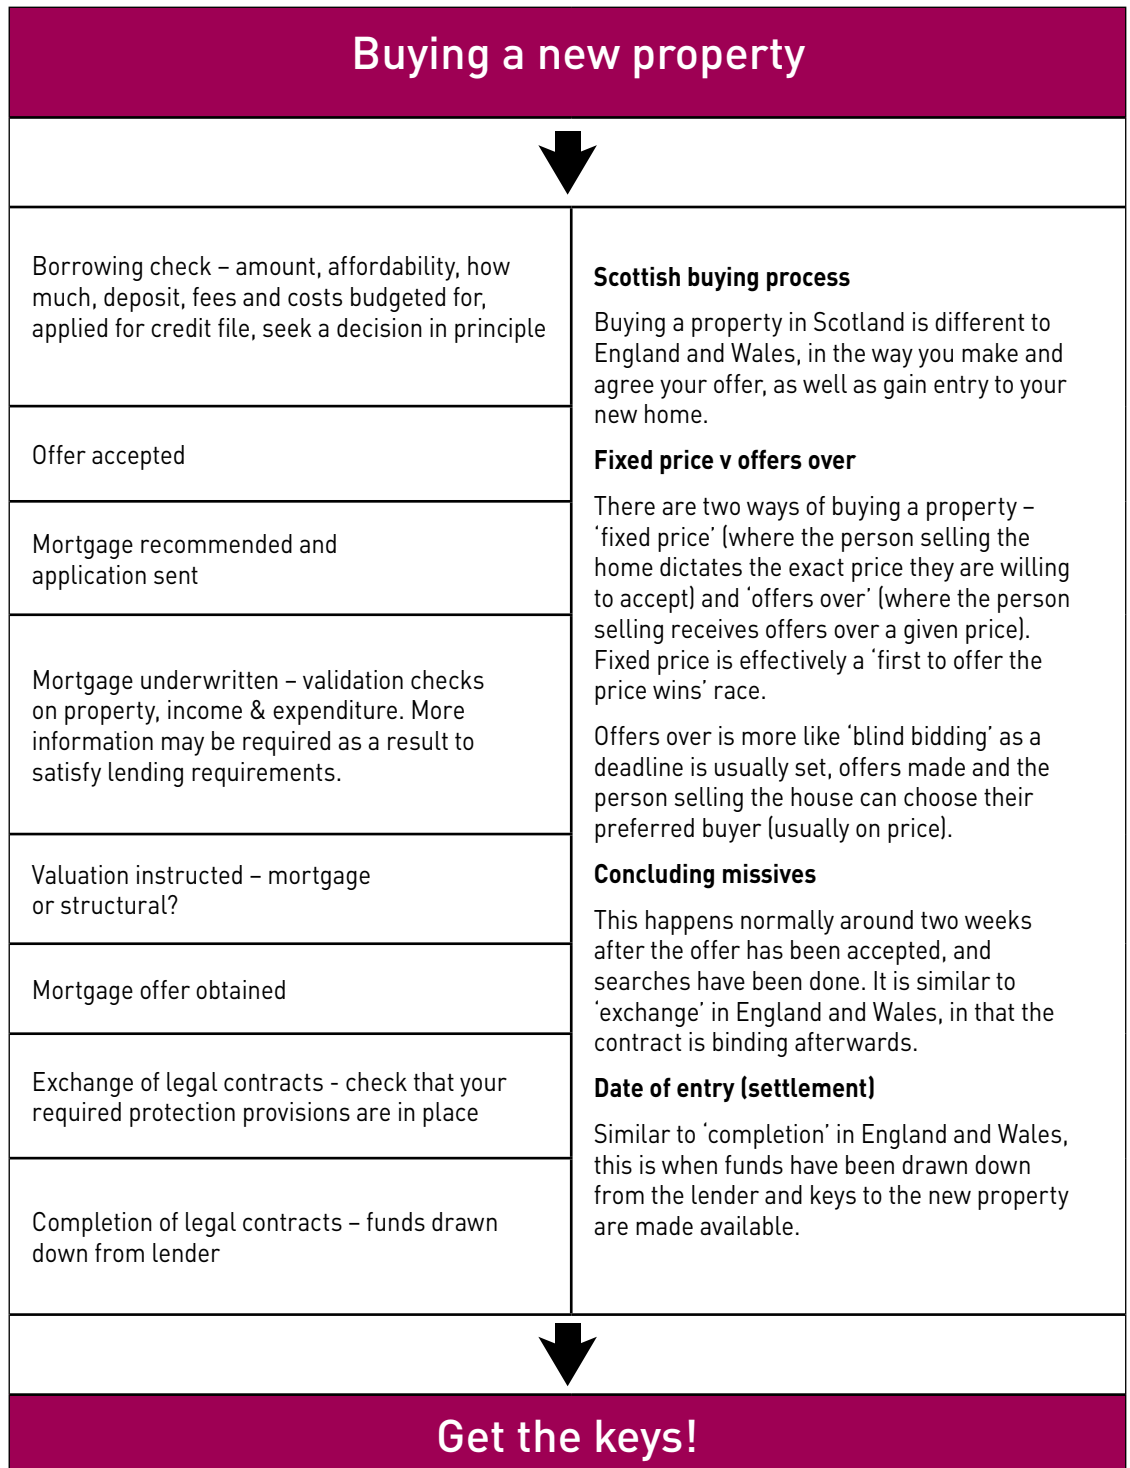

We take pride in offering a personal service that takes into account your individual circumstances. Your financial situation is unique, so we work hard to understand your goals and aspirations, and make financial recommendations based on a comprehensive and detailed analysis of your needs.

Our role is to:

- ensure you do not waste money unnecessarily by paying a higher monthly amount than you need to for your borrowings
- save you time and effort by recommending the most appropriate solution
- stop you missing out on the most cost effective way of arranging your loan.

To help clarify technical terms and jargon, we have included an A-Z glossary, which is based on our understanding of taxation, regulation and legislation for the 2015/2016 tax year.

The Mortgage Application Process

While this is a very structured process, please be aware that there are things that can delay progress that are outside of our control (e.g. property not valuing to the levels expected, further proof of income required by lenders).

Accident, Sickness and Unemployment cover

This is a yearly renewable cover that provides payment for a short period of time if accident, sickness or unemployment occurs. Often there is a deferred period after the point of claim (e.g. six weeks), and it is after this point that benefits are then paid. Benefits are normally only paid for periods of up to two years. Be aware that premiums will vary at renewal each year.

Affordability

At the moment it is easy to lull yourself into believing you can afford the mortgage you need – mortgage rates are at all-time lows and feel easily affordable. However, you need to ask yourself not only can you afford it today but can you afford it in the future when mortgage rates return to more normal levels.

Let's say you manage to find a mortgage with an interest rate of three percent, fixed for three years. That's a great rate. After three years you find interest rates have gone up and the best deal you can now get is six percent. That's an increase of three percentage points but, more frighteningly, your interest rate has increased by 100%. Will your net take home pay have increased at the same rate?

Interest rates will go up sooner or later. So be sure you can afford your mortgage repayments when that happens, not just now.

Annual Percentage Rate of charge (APR)

This is the interest rate that takes into account the total charge for lending you the money each year. It includes the added costs of the loan (such as arrangement fees), as well as factoring in the frequency that interest is charged (e.g. daily, monthly, quarterly or annually). This results in a figure that shows the equivalent rate on an annual basis. While this is a good initial benchmark for comparison, it should not be looked at in isolation as the only way to choose your mortgage.

Builders incentives – new-build 'off plan' offers

These may be attractive to the price you pay for the property. Be aware that some lenders may restrict the amount they lend in relation to these types of contracts. This helps protect them against market sentiment and may mean you have to invest more of your own deposit.

Buildings insurance

This is insurance that protects the property, fixtures and fittings. It can protect against fire, flood, subsidence and accidental damage. A key point to note is that the amount of cover chosen is to cover the rebuilding cost of the property, which is often different to its market value. The amount you have to pay towards any claim is called an excess, and can vary depending on what is being covered (e.g. subsidence, fire).

Completion

The stage in England and Wales where the property ownership finally changes for a purchase. Your conveyancer arranges for your deposit and lender monies to be paid to the person selling and completes the legal documentation.

Contents insurance

This insurance protects items that can easily be removed from a property. Cover can be for risks such as fire, theft or accidental damage. The amount you have to pay towards any claim is called an excess, and can vary depending on the item covered and what it is being insured against (e.g. accidental damage, theft).

Conveyancer

The job of a conveyancer (or solicitor) for a purchase is to help:

- Carry out a search of local planning information for items that may impact the value (e.g. upcoming land developments, new roads)
- Prepare a fixtures, fittings and contents list – this makes it clear what you are buying (e.g. kitchen appliances, lights, carpets)
- Confirm from the vendor whether they are aware of any material, structural or other defects to the property that you should know about
- Obtain proof that the property legally belongs to the person you are buying it from
- Research and find the property's legal boundaries
- Review and advise you on the contract for sale (prepared by the seller's solicitor)
- Agree a completion date.

Most lenders will be prepared to accept your choice of conveyancer, as most experienced solicitors will have acted for the lender in question before. However, it can be best to check beforehand.

Credit reference agencies

These agencies hold information on most UK adults. That data helps lenders assess the risk of lending to a specific person. There are a number of agencies in the UK, the main ones being Experian, Equifax, Callcredit and Checkmyfile. You can request a copy of your credit file from them, which is very worthwhile. You may be charged for this and some also have a monthly fee, so take care to check their terms and conditions.

Credit score

To help a lender assess your application, it is usual that they will use a form of scoring system to decide whether to accept your application. Different lenders give different levels of importance to your circumstances, and some set a higher pass mark than others.

It is normally based on three core areas:

- Public record information (e.g. the electoral roll),
- Credit account information (e.g. records of amounts of loans and your payment history), and
- Search information (e.g. the number of applications you have made for credit).

This means that care is required to ensure you approach the most suitable lenders, as an application will be recorded as a search (even if unsuccessful) and can then influence other lenders' decisions.

- Check your credit file – the information isn't always accurate and you can ask the agency to correct any inaccuracies
- Make sure you're on the electoral register – lenders can be a bit suspicious of anyone not registered to vote
- Check your address is current on all your credit, bank and mobile phone accounts – you don't want to give the impression that you have more than one address
- If you have credit cards you don't use, close the accounts – having several credit cards can count against you

- If you've never had credit in the past, apply for a credit card so you can build a credit score
- Make sure you pay all your bills on time - being only a few days late can result in a default showing on your credit file
- Never use payday loans - it will make you look like someone who can't manage money.

Critical illness cover

This is insurance that pays out when a defined medical event occurs. For example, following a heart attack, stroke, cancer or some other specifically defined critical illness.

Cover is for a set term, which may be equal to a mortgage term, for when children have grown up, until retirement or another life stage milestone. It may be worth considering having one policy for a set term to cover the mortgage, and another that will provide money to help provide for your different lifestyle if a serious illness happens.

Most people choose a lump sum to be paid out. There is the option of receiving it as set income over the term remaining, which is often a lower cost option.

Deposit

Lenders are no longer happy to take all the risk of buying your new home, and so do not lend 100% of the value of the property. If you are, unable in the future, to pay your mortgage, the lender needs reassurance that it can take your home and cover the loan by selling it.

Less risk taking means lower loan-to-value (LTV) ratios, and personal deposits need to be larger than in the recent past. You will need at least 5% as a first time buyer and typically 20% to access the most competitive interest rates on the market.

The source of the deposit may come from your current property, savings, inheritance or a gift.

Be aware that deposit loans from family and friends can still not be accepted as a source of deposit by some lenders, or can influence how much they may lend you.

Disclosure

It is a legal requirement that you disclose your circumstances fully and accurately. Also, non-disclosure of credit commitments, missed payments, County Court Judgements (CCJs), accurate address history, and number of dependents will have a big impact on your application now and also on any future application for financial services (as evidence of this may be loaded onto fraud databases).

Disclosing any issues to a lender does not automatically mean the application will be declined - indeed many lenders have provision for this type of business.

You may wish to consider obtaining a credit report to identify any historical or current credit issues, as well as check your past address history.

Drawdown

During the completion stage, this is when funds are released from your lender to be used for the property purchase.

Early repayment charge

This is normally shown as a percentage of the loan but can also be a fixed fee. They apply if you repay your loan during any special incentive periods (e.g. discount). Some products extend that time beyond the initial period so be aware.

Part payments can also sometimes trigger this, although most lenders allow a small percentage a year to be repaid without this happening.

Exchange

In England and Wales, this is the stage after which you are legally committed to purchase the new property. Usually deposits will be moved to the vendor's conveyancer, so if you withdraw from the process you will lose the deposit. Insurance and protection should be in place at this point.

Equity

The difference between the value of your home and your outstanding mortgage is known as equity. You could use the equity in your home as your deposit for your new mortgage. Less risk-taking by lenders means lower LTV ratios, so the more equity the better. If you get into trouble making your mortgage repayments your lender needs to be sure it can cover the outstanding mortgage by taking your home and selling it. The lower the LTV the more chance your lender has of achieving this.

To get the best deals on interest rates you'll need around 20% equity. As a rule, the more equity you have, the lower your interest rate.

Family Income Benefit

This cover will pay out if death occurs, and provides an income per year for the term remaining on the policy. For example, for a 20 year term, where the claim occurred after five years, there would be 15 annual payments made in total.

The income is not normally subject to income tax but may impact some state benefits.

Freehold

If you own the freehold of a property, it means that you own the building and the land it stands on.

Friends mortgages

The theory is that by joining together with friends you increase total income and therefore affordability. You own a share in the property that equates to your contribution.

It sounds like a sensible way forward but you shouldn't do this without giving it a lot of thought. You need to consider what happens when one of the parties wishes to sell up and move on. Friends can fall out too.

Informally known as mates' mortgages, you need to be sure you have covered all eventualities with a legally binding contract that applies to all parties.

Government help

Help to Buy – mortgage guarantee – for people with low deposits or first time buyers

To overcome lenders' reluctance to take on the risk of lending to first time buyers and people with low deposits the government introduced its mortgage guarantee scheme.

This scheme is aimed at borrowers who can demonstrate they can afford their monthly repayments but only have a small deposit. It enables lenders to offer 95% LTV mortgages because the government acts as a guarantor for the difference between 80% and 95%. So although the lender lends 95% LTV, the risk is the same as it would be for an 80% LTV mortgage.

There are some restrictions; for example, you can't borrow more than £600,000 and the loan can't exceed 4.5 times your income. But if you only have a small deposit this scheme may just help you get that mortgage.

Help to Buy – equity loan – for new build property

Unlike the mortgage guarantee scheme this is a loan not a guarantee, and is only available to buy a new build home. The most you can borrow is £600,000.

This is how it works. The government lends you up to 20% of the cost of a new home, you add a 5% deposit, and borrow the other 75% from a lender. So for example, a £200,000 home will break down as:

- A deposit from you of £10,000
- A loan from the government of £40,000
- A mortgage from a lender of £150,000

The attraction of this scheme is that the government loan is interest-free for the first five years.

Help to Buy – ISA – for first time buyers

The Chancellor of the Exchequer announced the new Help to Buy ISA in his March 2015 Budget. This scheme encourages first time buyers to save for a deposit by offering a government top-up of 25%.

You can save up to £200 a month and the government will add up to £50 a month, with a maximum top-up of £3,000.

The Help to Buy ISA is linked to the person, not to a property. This means if you are buying jointly with someone you can each have an ISA and benefit twice.

Gazumping

This is where the seller decides to take a higher offer, even after initially accepting yours. This could leave you out of pocket on expenses like the legal costs and survey fee. In England and Wales, the sale is secured by law only when contracts have been signed and exchanged.

Under the Scottish system, the seller confirms his acceptance of the offer. If the seller then gets a better offer and wants to change his mind, his solicitor will refuse to act for him on the new transaction – as doing so would leave him open to charges of professional misconduct. Rival solicitors are free to take the business if they wish, but this seldom happens in practice.

Guarantor

A guarantor doesn't have to be a parent but usually is. A guarantor takes on some of the risk of you being unable to meet your repayments. The lender will normally require your guarantors to offer their property as security against the guaranteed part of the mortgage.

Technically they become immediately liable to repay the outstanding loan if you are no longer able to make your payments. In reality, what usually happens is an agreement is made between the lender and the guarantor, so they maintain payments until you are able to do so.

Higher lending charge

This was previously known as a mortgage indemnity guarantee (MIG). It is where high LTV lending happens and an insurance policy is taken out by the lender to protect itself - should you default and property values decline.

This cost is passed on to you through this charge. Not all lenders charge this.

Income protection

This provides income where you are ill or injured, and as a result your income through employment or your normal route stops. If Houseperson's cover is included, then it will pay out upon illness or injury, irrespective of any income stopping. It is designed to replace most of your net income.

Cover lasts for either a set term in whole years, or to a given age (typically your state retirement age).

The amount you pay is called the premium. It can either be guaranteed not to change, or it can be reviewable. Reviewable cover normally changes based on the claims experience of the life assurance company.

Indexation of benefit

This is a feature that can be added to some insurance plans. This allows the amount of benefit and cover you have in place to increase during the term of the plan. Increases can be set amounts, or linked to inflation or national average earnings increases.

Normally increases happen at each anniversary. Premiums also increase to reflect the higher level of cover.

Interest only mortgage

With an interest only mortgage, your payments to the lender cover only the interest on the loan (i.e. they do not repay any of the capital). The total amount of your debt does not reduce over time and the full amount of the loan still has to be repaid to the lender at the end of the term, so you will need to ensure you have that money ready.

So you can make this final payment, you can invest so that you generate enough capital to repay the loan at the end of the term. If you choose to invest, some investment vehicles can have tax advantages and when you move or remortgage, your investment vehicle can usually be reallocated to the new mortgage.

However, there is no guarantee that your chosen investment vehicle will grow sufficiently to repay your loan (although you can usually top up your contributions to investments as you go along if this looks likely to be the case).

Land taxes

When you buy property you must pay tax based on its value. In England, Wales, and Northern Ireland you pay Stamp Duty Land Tax (SDLT); in Scotland you pay Land and Buildings Transaction Tax (LBTT). The rate at which you pay tax is based on the price of the property and becomes progressively higher as you move through price bands. The current rates of SDLT and LBTT are:

SDLT

Property value	SDLT rate
Up to £125,000	0%
The next £125,000 (£125,001 – £250,000)	2%
The next £675,000 (£250,001 – £925,000)	5%
The next £575,000 (£925,001 – £1,500,000)	10%
Above £1,500,000	12%

You can find an SDLT calculator on the HM Revenue and Customs website at <http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/tools/sdlt/land-and-property.htm>.

LBTT

Property value	LBTT rate
Up to £145,000	0%
The next £105,000 (£145,001 – £250,000)	2%
The next £75,000 (£250,001 – £325,000)	5%
The next £425,000 (£325,001 – £750,000)	10%
Above £750,000	12%

You can find an LBTT calculator on the Revenue Scotland website at <https://www.revenue.scot/land-buildings-transaction-tax/tax-calculator/lbtt-property-transactions-calculator>.

Leasehold

A leasehold building means you have permission to use the property for a certain term, as agreed with the freeholder who owns the land. Typically this applies to apartments, where the freeholder will be responsible for maintaining the common parts of the building (e.g. entrance hall, staircase, roof), for which the leaseholder pays ground rent.

Legal fees

When you buy or remortgage a property there is legal work that needs to be done. You will often hear this called conveyancing. You will probably use a solicitor to do this work for you although you can use a licenced conveyancer.

Your legal bill will be the fees for the legal work plus other expenses that your solicitor has paid on your behalf, such as searches and Land Registry fees. You may see these additional expenses described as disbursements.

Some remortgage deals may include free conveyancing otherwise expect to pay around £500 + VAT for the legal work plus the cost of disbursements.

Let-to-buy

A variation on a theme, where you let the home you are currently living in, so that you can facilitate the purchase of your new home. You need to obtain permission to let from your current lender, and they may not agree depending on their appetite for risk. They may also alter the interest rate you pay. You may need to review the market for other options. Your let-to-buy is then treated like a traditional buy-to-let application, and your new home purchase would be a related, but isolated, application.

Life cover

This is cover that pays out on death. Some plans pay upon earlier confirmation of a terminal illness where the prognosis is death within 12 months. It can pay out as a lump sum, or as income for a set period.

Cover can last for a set term called Term Assurance, or can last throughout life, called Whole of Life.

The amount of cover can remain the same or increase / decrease annually. Level term assurance stays the same throughout. Decreasing cover is sometimes used to cover a reducing debt, such as a repayment mortgage and usually assumes a given interest rate. Provided your mortgage rates don't exceed that rate, then the cover should reduce at around the same rate as the mortgage.

The amount you pay is called the premium. It can either be guaranteed not to change, or it can be reviewable. Reviewable cover normally changes based on the claims experience of the life assurance company.

Loan-to-value (LTV)

This is shown as a percentage rate, and is the amount of loan compared to the value of the property. The higher the loan-to-value (LTV) the lower the deposit required, but typically also the higher the rate of interest payable. See also 'Deposit.'

Mortgage arrangement fees

Unless you choose a lender's standard variable rate mortgage you can expect to pay an arrangement fee for your mortgage. Arrangement fees vary wildly, and may be expressed as a fixed fee or as a percentage of the loan. This means it is difficult to give an accurate estimate but it is not unusual to pay something in the range of £500 – £2,000 or more.

You will usually have the choice of paying the arrangement fee up front or adding it to the loan. Adding it to the loan may ease your cash flow but will cost you more as you will pay more interest.

Mortgage types

Type of mortgage interest option	Description	Advantages	Disadvantages
Standard Variable Rate (SVR)	Your monthly repayments rise and fall in line with changes in your lender's standard variable rate of interest, not necessarily linked to the Bank of England base rate.	The lender does not usually charge an arrangement fee. There are usually no penalties if you redeem the mortgage – often called early redemption penalties.	You have no certainty over monthly repayments. Monthly repayments will be more expensive than other options with an incentivised rate for an initial period.
Discounted Rate	Your lender gives you a discount against its SVR for a set period of time. It will normally revert to SVR after the initial period.	Repayments are lower than an SVR mortgage.	You have no certainty over monthly repayments. The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. There are usually early redemption penalties should you wish to redeem the mortgage during a period set by the lender.
Fixed Rate	The interest rate is fixed by the lender for a set period. It will normally revert to SVR after the initial period.	Your monthly repayments stay the same even when interest rates rise. You can budget knowing what your monthly repayments will be.	Your monthly repayments stay the same even when interest rates lower. The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. There are usually early redemption penalties should you wish to redeem the mortgage during a period set by the lender.
Base Rate Tracker	During a set period the interest rate tracks the Bank of England's base rate. The interest rate is expressed as base rate + x%. The monthly repayments change every time the Bank of England changes interest rates. Some are 'Stepped Trackers' where the margin between base rate and SVR changes at the mortgage anniversary.	You benefit immediately from any reduction in interest rates by the Bank of England. Usually repayments are lower than an SVR mortgage.	You have no certainty over monthly repayments. You suffer immediately from any increase in interest rates. The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. There are early redemption penalties should you wish to redeem the mortgage during a period set by the lender.

Current Account	A single account from which you run your day-to-day finances and your mortgage. It is like a current account with a large overdraft facility secured against your property.	The lender calculates interest on the current debit balance. There are no fixed monthly repayments; you can overpay, underpay or take payment holidays as long as the debt is within your agreed borrowing limit. Your savings effectively earn interest at the mortgage rate. You effectively have a credit facility where you only pay interest at the mortgage rate.	The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. The flexible repayment nature means you need self-discipline to ensure you repay the mortgage by the end of the term. If you are not a higher rate tax payer or have substantial savings, you may be better off with a more traditional option that has a lower interest rate. Also, other interest options sometimes allow overpayments and offer better rates.
Offset	A similar idea to the current account mortgage but without a single account. Essentially, your mortgage debt is notionally reduced by the balance in your savings account; you pay interest on this notionally reduced debt.	You pay interest on a lower balance than with a traditional mortgage. You can usually overpay, underpay or take payment holidays as long as the debt is within your agreed borrowing limit. Your savings effectively earn interest at the mortgage rate.	The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. The flexible repayment nature means you need self-discipline to ensure you repay the mortgage by the end of the term. If you are not a higher rate tax payer or have substantial savings, you may be better off with a more traditional option that has a lower interest rate. Also, other interest options sometimes allow overpayments and offer better rates.
Cashback	A mortgage that pays you an up front cash lump sum of either a fixed amount or a percentage of the mortgage advance.	Can be useful for first time buyers who may be on a tight budget and could use the cashback for home furnishings.	There are redemption penalties should you wish to redeem the mortgage during a period set by the lender. The rate is often SVR or very close to it.

Capped	The rate will not rise above a certain level for a set period.	Offers similar security to the fixed rate. Initial rates are usually competitive.	The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. There are early redemption penalties should you wish to redeem the mortgage during a period set by the lender. Rates are often higher than a fixed rate, and caps are normally only two or three years.
Droplock / Switch to fix	A discount or tracker mortgage, which has an option to switch to a fixed rate at any point within the initial discount or tracker period without paying any early repayment charges.	Benefits from base rates when they are low, with the option to switch to the protection of a fixed rate should interest rates look set to rise significantly.	There can be an arrangement fee when this is exercised. There may not be a fixed rate product available at the time the borrower wishes to switch.
LIBOR	Linked to the London Inter-Bank Offered Rate. This is the rate commercial banks lend to each other, and set every day for different periods (whereas Bank of England would change at most once a month). Most popular is the three month LIBOR. It is set for a three month period, and when this expires it is set for another three months. So in a year it will change potentially four times.	Historically LIBOR can be slightly lower than Bank of England base rate.	You have no certainty over monthly repayments. You suffer immediately from any increase in LIBOR rates, and there is no guarantee that it will not be higher than Bank base rate. The lender will usually charge a one-off arrangement fee. There are early redemption penalties should you wish to redeem the mortgage during a period set by the lender.
Foreign Currency	A mortgage that is not in the same currency as your main income. This means it applies to UK property and not only to properties abroad.	If currency exchange rates move in your favour, then the value of your debt can decrease. This can impact it more than interest and repayments in the short term.	You are subject to currency fluctuations as well as interest rate rises, so your debt may increase irrespective of your interest or payments. Good practice suggests factoring in at least a 20% change in currency values.

Offer

You will make an offer for the new property and hopefully that will be accepted. Obtaining a legal mortgage offer is the next important part. This is where the lender starts their assessment (underwriting) process of you and the property. A mortgage offer is normally required by your conveyancer before moving to the next stage. Please note, that although extremely rare in reality, a lender reserves the right to withdraw your offer at any point prior to completion.

One-off costs

When you buy a property you incur certain one-off costs that can add up to a significant amount of money. These include land taxes (stamp duty), legal fees, valuation/survey fees, and mortgage arrangement fees (see other sections for details).

Personal income

In order to assess whether you loan is affordable, lenders will look at your current and predicted expenditure. This is of course reliant on your income. Lenders will assess your income looking at areas such as:

- Source - (employed, self-employed, investments, dividends)
- Frequency of payment
- Consistency
- Gross and net levels of income
- Bonuses – some lenders do not include this as income as it is not guaranteed. Others may only allow a percentage of bonuses to be included in assessing your affordability.
- Time in your current role.

Different lenders place different emphasis on the above criteria when assessing you, and so using the expertise of a mortgage adviser is vital to ensure you approach the right lenders.

Private medical insurance

This is insurance that pays the hospital or Doctor for your treatment. It can include treatment in a private ward, or being seen earlier in an NHS ward. Some plans also allow you to claim if you are not able to be seen by the NHS within a set period. Other plans may charge a little more and don't have any link to NHS waiting times.

You are either medically checked and underwritten at outset (so you know what you're covered for and what you won't be), or have no medical checking at outset (but conditions that occurred two years before taking out the cover are not covered, and often there is no cover for a reoccurrence within five years after taking out the plan).

Premiums are usually reviewable annually.

Property type

Some properties such as flats over commercial properties, studio flats and ex-local authority premises can be viewed as having reduced future attractiveness and as such some lenders may not operate in that market. This may restrict your lending options.

Listed buildings (e.g. Grade 1, Grade 2) may have restrictions on how you can maintain or alter the property as well as buildings near to it (e.g. garage). Some unlisted properties can also be subject to similar restrictions (e.g. in an area of outstanding natural beauty).

Regulation

Almost all residential mortgages are regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority for your peace of mind. We will let you know if any of the products or solutions are not regulated, and what that means to you.

As a reputable mortgage adviser we follow best practices and processes irrespective of whether a solution is regulated or not.

Repayment mortgage

With a repayment mortgage your monthly repayments cover both capital and interest on the loan.

As the term continues, the amount outstanding on the loan reduces so the full amount of the loan will have been repaid at the end of the term as long as you have maintained payments.

No other repayment vehicle is needed and it avoids the risk of investing (e.g. in the stock market).

If you remortgage, you may be tempted to extend the end repayment date in order to lower your monthly payments. However this means that the amount you repay overall increases over time.

Risks

As with all investments, the value of a property can go down as well as up. Future housing or commercial development nearby, transport links and route changes can all impact value.

Interest rate rises can also impact your repayments, and while you may be protected in the short term (e.g. fixed rate), you will be exposed to a different market at the end of any initial period.

The biggest risk to you is not being able to maintain payments if your income is effected in any way. This may be through redundancy, accident, illness or death. As your adviser we will be able to reassure and advise you about what would happen in your individual circumstance so that you do not lose the family home.

Self-employed

It is more difficult to get a mortgage if you are self-employed, when compared with employees. Self-employed people often have more erratic incomes and find it more difficult to prove their incomes.

In the past, self-employed people got round the problem of proving income by using self-certification mortgages, where you would state your income and a lender would take it on trust.

However, too many people took out mortgages they couldn't afford and these loans are no longer allowed.

All lenders will want to see proof of your income, often looking to see a track record over three years or more. That way it can take an average figure and smooth out any spikes.

Proof can take the form of accounts and tax returns, and the SA302 supplied by the HMRC.

Please remember that income means profit not turnover- if you've legitimately suppressed your profits to minimise income tax, this will work against you when applying for a mortgage.

Self-employed mortgages are a bit of a minefield and you really need access to expert knowledge and contacts. We can help you.

Shared ownership

These schemes are available through housing associations and are aimed at buyers who can't quite buy a home outright.

How they work is you buy a share (between 25% and 75% of your home) and pay rent on the remaining share. As time passes and your circumstances improve you have the option to increase your share until you own your home outright.

As usual, restrictions apply; you will also need a special shared-ownership mortgage to buy your share.

Valuation and survey fees

Before a lender will grant you a mortgage it will insist on a valuation to prove the property is worth what you're paying for it. The size of the valuation fee will vary by lender and property value but for a property costing £200,000 expect to pay around £355 (source: Halifax Building Society June 2015).

The basic mortgage valuation is for the lender's benefit so that it feels comfortable lending against the property.

You may feel you want to add a survey to the valuation that gives you a report on the general condition of the property. Costs vary but for a valuation and survey on a house costing £200,000 expect to pay around £545 (source: Halifax Building Society June 2015).

If you are buying an older property, or one in a general state of disrepair, you may choose a full structural survey. This is a thorough survey that examines the structural condition of the property and gives you advice on repairs. Depending on the property expect to pay between £500 and £1,000.

Obtaining comparable examples in the same area and for similar property will help you obtain a benchmark.

Waiver of premium

This is a feature that can be added to some insurance plans. Should you become disabled, or seriously ill and unable to pay the premiums of a plan, this cover can pay your premiums for you.

There is normally a period before this benefit starts where you need to continue paying premiums (a deferred period). Once the deferred period has passed, you will have your premiums paid for you.
